

Doodle 4 Google India 2013 – Celebrating Indian Women

National Winner

Sky's The Limit For Indian Women By Gayatri Ketharaman, The Bishop's Co-Ed School, Pune

What is Doodle 4 Google?

We have this thing called a logo which you see each time you visit www.google.com. We love it and hate the idea of it becoming boring. So, we often do fun things with our logo and call it a doodle. To keep the fun going, we like to invite bright young minds to come and share their imagination and creativity by designing their own doodle, and that's when you doodle4google. Last year we asked young doodlers across India to portray India's "Unity in Diversity".

The doodle theme for 2013...

This year we are looking for doodles that are creative, aesthetic, innovative and celebrate the Indian woman. Let your imagination flow and bring alive the things that you think best reflect her. So what are you waiting for, get doodling!
